Capt. Plunkett Returns To Empire Next Monday

Three days of this week, at the New Empire theatre, Tonight is Bargain Night with a reduced admission price of 10c. The same admission price matinee will be given in Wednesday afternoon.

"Beware of Blondes" chosen as the fastest vehicle, ran for six months on Broadway and was a smash success. It comes from the pen of brilliant young playwright, Victor Heerman, who has written for the New York critics as the coming great playwright. "The Man in the Moon" was one of three successful plays presented by the New York edition of the Broadway New York last season.

"Beware of Blondes" was originally presented by William H. Harris Jr., of the famous Harris family, but the play due to such enormous popular success as "Alabamians," "The Man in the Moon," "The Bad Moon," and "The Man in the Moon," was taken over by Lynn Fontanne, Henry Hall, Ralph Morris and Robert Strange, who have now joined the cast. The new play, "Cue, Sherrill Page, George Taylor, and others, will be added to the cast of the Belmont players.

Speaking of the Belmont rights to such a play, Fred Karne, manager of "Beware of Blondes" is yet another proof that the Belmonts are the most popular patrons of the drama, notwithstanding the biggest hits from Broadway are nothing like them. There are many other good plays which places such as the "Giant." These are the Belmonts' forte. Their engagement and reservations should be made as early as possible.

Sweethearts, Attention! Love Problem Solved

Can a man have a girl who is clever, attractive and good? If he can't, try on this subject, but if you prefer the theme for League Day's new show, "The Girl in the Glass," which comes to the Gem theatre in the afternoon, it is a good idea to try to see Miss Joy, finds that while she is not the most efficient in business, she has a remarkable ability to command love. Her education is complete, she is a good mother, she plays the masculine lead.

It was this year which led Captain Al Christie to the Belmonts. He was earning as much as ten thousand dollars a week in his troupe with Art with Fred Karne in the new review.

With Fred Karne in the new review, Jimmie Reid, the Scotch comedian, and Jimmy Norton, the English character comedian, will appear at 8:30 each evening in a snap comedy numbers in conjunction with the vaudeville acts. Captain the first half of this week and the second half of the season the most fastidious person.

Speaking of comedy and vaudeville is a couple of wonderous acts. Jenny and Phillips in a novelty presentation of "The Clinging Vine" and out, and Jimmy Norton, the English character comedian, will appear at 8:30 each evening in snap comedy numbers in conjunction with the vaudeville acts. Captain the first half of this week and the second half of the season the most fastidious person.

Dir Gives "Hurry Up" Yost Brand New Title

Fielding H. Yost, L. L. B. Director of Intercollegiate Athletics, Instructor Football, Director of the formal title of the University of Manitoba football team, has been known as "Hurry Up" Yost.

He is the coach of the team which won "Hurry Up" its popular "name de guerre" were employed by him in preparing the men for the players who do their stuff in Richfield.

"The Quarterback." If you see the "Hurry Up" team, you will see a stadium-rocking game is in store for you.

Symphony Orchestra Scores An Outstanding Success

Overcoming the multifarious obstacles which beset the orchestra, it succeeded to the critics, goes on to great success in the new girl-and-music series.

With the dimention Symphony Orchestra in its first concert of the regular series of the 1926-27 season on Monday, Dec. 13th for a matinee, the audience was greatly pleased.

Each program was a tour de force in itself, and every member was a true professional in his field.

It was by means making his first appearance in the orchestra, that Fred Karne, the Karmo brothers among them, and many others of London's musical world, were introduced to the public.

With them, in turned Canada in the musical world, and with them, which was a steady favorite during the past few years.

Henry Barron conducted with skill and enthusiasm by Fred Karne, marking his initial appearance in this city, found high favor with the public.

He has given a series of Super-Comedy, Super-Variety, and Super-Musical entertainments.

He has made three picture winners with "The Man in the Moon" and "Mabel's Room," and now comes "The Nervous Wreck" which is a comedy of the highest order.

When Opportunity Beckons.

After all, when a driver leaves his car parked on a public street for hours, unlocked and all ready to go, is he not contributing somewhat to the temptation of boys who have the inclination to go joy-riding?

The Tip Will Keep Going.

The native common sense has prevailed and the country is beginning to learn the hardship and inconveniences of a railway strike at midwinter.

For that congratulations are due to the public, but scarcely more than to the railways and trainmen. A strike is a frightfully costly method of settling a dispute. Unless the issue is more important than it usually is, the fruits of victory do not always outweigh the cost, which can easily run into millions. Six per cent interest in any day does not strike the outsider as being worth fighting about, from the standpoint of the railwaymen or of the railroads.

Both parties to the disagreement will be better off three months from date than they would have been had wages and railwaymen been sent off to the strike by the transportation system. While the effect upon the public was taken into account, it is highly probable that this very important consideration had a large influence in recommending a compromise settlement in preference to a bootless struggle.

An Exhibition Or A Swindle?

If the Chicago International wishes to keep its standing as a really international exhibition, attention will have to be paid to the charges levied against its management by Mr. Treleis and Mr. Mitchell, and backed up very forcefully indeed by Hon. George Headley.

What is needed is a frank admission and an airing in such a way that exhibits can be tampered with by unscrupulous rivals. In this instance the evidence is conclusive, and the only question is: what will be done about it?

To make sure that something will be done the Canadian Government, the provincial and of course Dominion should be heard from. A prompt endorsement of the stand of the Alberta Minister Canadians should refuse to have anything further to do, officially or unofficially, with an exhibition where no precautions are taken to protect exhibitors.

The International wants say more exhibitors from Canada than it should be put up to the management now to establish all practicable guarantees that exhibitors who send entries there in future will not be rubbed.

When a Vote Is Not a Vote.

At the Provincial elections held last June 751 voters in the city of Edmonton took the trouble to go to the polls and mark ballots which were never counted.

These ballots were spoiled because the voters did not make the necessary study beforehand to learn how to mark a ballot in the one way that the law says it must be marked if it is to be counted.

Because the preferential system of voting is comparatively new, it is radically different, and because it is far more complicated than the old, the liability to spoil a ballot is several times increased.

The only way a voter can protect his franchise is to learn how the law says he must mark the preferential ballot. Unless he does that the odds are pretty strong that he will destroy the paper, and his candidates, and deprive himself of any say in the business of government.

The civic elections are to be held next Monday. The preferential system of voting is to be used. The elector who is not certain that he has already mastered the subject would do well to find out in meantime precisely how the law requires a ballot to be marked in order to record a vote. Else he may only waste shoe-leather walking to the poll.

A Lead For Alberta.

If the Bonfires Government were looking for a lead how to win an election, the results of last June show that it doesn't need it. It might find one in the campaign platform of Premier Ferguson.

The Ontario Freemen made it part of their program that if returned it would reduce the prices of motor vehicles by five dollars a hundred, and liquor profits to make up the lost revenue. This party organization promptly plastered the windows of automobiles all over the province with the glad tidings that if the drivers voted right they would get a five-dollar cut in the fare charge.

That looked very much like bribing the public with their own money, but the chances are that it helped to land a heavy proportion of the monarchist votes for Ferguson candidates.

Whatever the effect on polling day, the "planned" advertisement of the Ontario Freemen of what had been already admitted by the Government of British Columbia; that when a Government sets up a monopoly of dispensing liquor, out of which it expects to make huge profits, there should be a reduction of taxation granted as an offset to the public.

The Government of Alberta, having secured this highly profitable monopoly, could very well afford to clip five dollars off the price of an automobile license, and allow the municipalities to collect this sum if they chose to do so. That would go some way to bring the ministerial fee down to a reasonable figure, to meet the demands the municipalities are making for a share of the proceeds of this and other kinds of taxa-

Missing Elocutionist

By EDGAR A. GULST

As swiftly come the days and go,
And customs vanish with the glow.
No more the Webster bumptious bright;
The witless world is not your sight;
And these are not so solely raised;
But where's the girl who could recite?
The famous elocutionist?

Now comes the winter, dark and drear,
The roads not long are gleaming white,
A lass still waits to meet her man;
The village cut-ups are all right;
She's got a boy and she will bring
Compile today a lengthy list,
But where's the girl who could recite?
The famous elocutionist?

No more the albums plush we shew,
Nor fine fashions have we varied quite,
Quaints still wait for soft and lowe;

The village cut-ups are all right;

Compile today a lengthy list,

But where's the girl who could recite?
The famous elocutionist?

Prizes 'la la long-lot-fay I wrote,
Once loved now vanquished like the mist.
Where is the girl who could recite?
The famous elocutionist?

The Beauty of Life's Autumns

It is difficult to tell just how exacting what constitutes age change with the individual.

When the members of the pre-adolescent 18 seems a great age and even when the person reaches 21 she has not yet reached her maturity.

When she herself reaches the mature age of 21 she feels that her kidness is gone and that she might as well be resigned to it.

But when she discovers that her skin is still the best of the set off with a clearer and happier outlook on life, she begins to feel better and more interesting.

When the least, most interesting period of her life is just before the advanced age of forty she would have been a woman of the world.

It is true that the beauty of the face is not the secret of the secret of youth.

One of the most marked and remarkable changes that come on with the years is a darkened complexion.

It is the desire of the woman to harmonize with graying hair and the desire of the man to harmonize with gray and medium tones.

Red and chestnut browns dark green and Burgundy may be worn with success.

Lighter colors, such as flesh-colored, collar and cuffs of light-colored, short, silky fur, green may be worn with success.

The question of colors is more important to the woman than to the girl whose skin is fresh and clear.

It is the desire of the woman to streaked with gray and medium tones.
